RHYNLANDT BULB NURSERIES
Valkenburg, near Leiden, Holland

WE GUARANTEE

We guarantee our stock to be true to name. No better bulbs can be bought at any price. If any customer should receive stock which, when it comes to bloom, proves not true to name, it is the result of an accident and in such a case we will send the customer stock of the variety ordered in the grade of stock sent out in the first instance. He may keep the bulbs first received.

Promptly upon receipt of the bulbs the package and each individual bag within it should be opened so as to give the air access to the bulbs. A disregard of this may impair their blooming power.

All bulbs we send out will grow and bloom under any ordinary conditions. But we have no control over conditions surrounding the bulbs and the care they receive after they pass out of our hands. We therefore cannot assume responsibility for customer's failure to succeed with them, either on account of unfavorable weather or soil conditions, improper planting, neglect, moles or mice.

NARCISSI OR DAFFODILS

The terms Narcissus and Daffodil are interchangeable, although there exists a tendency to apply the term Narcissi to the small-flowering groups like Poeticus, Leedsii, Barrii and Incomparabilis; while the larger-flowered Trumpet varieties are most frequently referred to as Daffodils.

Soil and its Treatment. Narcissi will thrive in any ordinary garden soil, but prefer a deep, rather moist, sandy loam. When the soil is of a dry and sandy nature, it should be deeply dug, if possible at least a season before planting the bulbs, composted leaves or well-rotted cow manure being added and a vegetable or annual crop grown on the ground. Before the bulbs are planted a sprinkling of lime should be spread on the surface and then raked in. It is also beneficial to add bone meal at the rate of $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. to the square yard while digging the soil. Never use fresh manure of any kind at planting time—it burns the roots! On very poor and dry sandy soils we recommended the addition of about 1 oz. per square yard of sulphate of potash to be sprinkled over the surface of the ground, after planting.

Naturalizing in Grass, etc. All Narcissi will grow equally well in the open or in partial shade. In the flower-border, to obtain the best effect, they should be planted in large groups of irregular outline, each group or clump to contain one variety only; avoid straight lines, circles, and symmetrical designs. Masses of Narcissi should always appear in the hardy flower border, where they can be planted between the clumps of herbaceous plants, which hide as well as shelter the foliage later in the season.

All varieties of Narcissi, Tulips and Hyacinths are listed in the logical order of their respective merits, regardless of price. The variety which in our opinion is the choicest of its class, is listed at the head of its class, the second best coming second, etc.

The number after each variety name indicates the relative time of flowering.

How Many Bulbs to Order for Beds of a Specific Size

Below we give the number of bulbs needed to plant a circular bed of dimensions as stated. Plant outside rows first, and place three inches from edge of bed. It is advisable to plant the outer rows more closely than those toward the center.

Diameter of bed	6 in. apart	8 in. apart	12 in. apart	Diameter of bed	6 in. apart	8 in. apart	12 in. apart
3 feet	28	16	7	12 feet	452	255	113
4 feet	48	27	12	13 feet	528	299	132
5 feet	80	44	20	14 feet	612	347	153
6 feet	112	64	28	15 feet	704	398	176
7 feet	152	87	38	16 feet	804	453	201
8 feet	200	113	50	17 feet	904	511	226
9 feet	256	143	64	18 feet	1016	573	254
10 feet	320	177	80	19 feet	1132	638	283
11 feet	380	214	95	20 feet	1256	707	314

To arrive at the number of bulbs required for an oval bed, add the length and breadth and divide by two using the result as the diameter in above table. A bed 6 feet wide by 8 feet long will require the same number of bulbs as a round bed 7 feet in diameter. ($6 + 8 = 14$; divided by 2 gives 7.)

PERSONAL OPINIONS

Were we permitted to have it our way we would no longer offer a good many so-called "old-fashioned" favorites. Many quite reasonably priced newer varieties are far ahead of them in every respect. We do not offer novelties of questionable merit. Once you see a variety offered in our catalogue you can be sure that it deserves your consideration and trial.

We are tempted to pronounce Tulips the most spectacular of all spring flowers for a great variety of reasons. In the first place they bring us a blaze of colors when the heart is just about starved through the drab and dreary winter months.

Their range of colors is perfectly amazing, from clear white to deepest purple and maroon, including many superb vari-colored combinations. By a judicious selection of early, midseason and late varieties, Tulips may be enjoyed for the best part of six weeks outdoors, with an additional two months added when the gardener goes in for "forcing" suitable sorts indoors.

Culture. Tulips should not be grown in soil in which they have been grown for two years previously. They do best in fresh soil or in beds in which the soil has been changed. Growing them in the same soil for more than two years will at last lead to failure.

Do not use fresh stable manure at planting time, as it is injurious to the roots. Well-rotted manure will prove beneficial. Bone meal or dried sheep manure also can be used, about three handfuls to the square yard. This must be thrown on top of the soil before planting.

Nearly all Tulips should be planted outside about 5 inches deep, and 6 inches apart according to the size of the bulb. They should be planted four to six weeks before severe frost sets in. For best results, do not mulch them until after the soil has become frozen, to keep out mice, etc. Do not mulch them too heavily, half an inch will prove quite enough. Old cow manure, peat moss, salt hay or leaves may be used for this purpose.

DARWIN TULIPS

The chief characteristics of the Darwins are the perfect cup-shape of the flowers, fleshy substantial petals, tall stems and bright colors, ranging through all the shades of pink and red to purple. There are certain slaty blues and blue-violets which might almost be called a blue, while the black Tulip is nearly realized in some of the dark maroon varieties. There are comparatively few white or pure yellow varieties.

Most Darwins can be forced by middle of February, many of them even earlier, provided that they are potted as soon as received.

The bulbs must be set farther apart than is the case with the early Tulips, and plenty of room on the benches must be given when vigorous growth begins. They should be grown slowly under a moderate temperature. Too high a temperature should be avoided, or poor flowers result.

Nearly all varieties but especially the mauve-colored ones, lose their true color, becoming much paler when forced.

An asterisk () preceding the name indicates that it may be successfully forced. The figure following indicates the relative time of flowering.*

Narcissi, Tulips and Hyacinths are listed in order of their respective merits. The choicest in its respective class leads that class.

Here glorious Breeder, Cottage and Darwin Tulips create a riot of color. A May day view at "Tulipdom."

Each year we test hundreds of varieties of Tulips in our show grounds. We keep the best and discard the rest.

BREEDER TULIPS

Breeders, formerly listed among the Cottage Tulips, form a distinct class by themselves, being "unbroken" forms of the old time "Florist" Tulips.

Discarded by their originators, the old Dutch gardeners, because they had no stripes or feathers, they were more or less neglected and grown only in some obscure corners, until a taste for the so-called "art colors" awakened, and with the revival of the taste for bronze, brown and buff tones, the attention was drawn to these Tulips, which have now become the most popular late Tulips.

And they deserve their popularity. Not only for their peculiar and odd colors, but also for their great lasting qualities. In size and height they frequently surpass even the finest Darwins.

Out-of-doors or when used for forcing, Breeders require the same cultural treatment as the Darwin Tulips.

COTTAGE TULIPS

We venture to say that this type is of great antiquity, having probably originated in Persia where some species resembling them in shape are found growing wild today—Tulipa Clusiana among them. As far back as 1554 the Austrian Ambassador to the court of the Calif brought with him some of their seeds and Tulips became a fascinating hobby with many wealthy Viennese gardeners—for the seeds, as well as bulbs, were expensive.

The term "Cottage" Tulips is of quite recent origin. The fact that they are probably the longest lived and most lasting of all Tulips caused many of them to be planted around the country houses and cottages of England and France.

All colors imaginable can be found among them, and most of them have long stems, some of them gracefully drooping. They form excellent cut-flower material and are unsurpassed for garden decoration. Flower lovers who happen to be in the neighborhood of Oyster Bay in May and call on us, will see one of the largest collections of May-flowering Tulips in the world.

WHITE

WHITE DUCHESS 2:

Snow white with broad, slightly ruffled and recurving petals flushed soft green in center. A large, graceful, artistic flower carried on a tall, strong stem. Height, 28 inches. $2.35 per dozen, $18 per 100.

VESTA 3:

Pale sulphur on opening, turning to pure white when in full bloom. As already mentioned, this fits in with the Darwins, for outside, as there is not a satisfactory white Darwin at a medium price. One of the truly great pure white May-flowering Tulips. It is equally well adapted for bedding and cutting. The large, well-shaped flowers are carried on strong stems. Height, 28 inches. 95 cts. per dozen, $6.50 per 100.

*CARRARA 3:

Another snow white glistening beauty which is greatly enhanced by prominent yellow stamens. The flowers are large, with broad, round petals of pronounced substance, hence the flowers last a long time. The best white for forcing. Height, 20 inches. $1.15 per dozen, $8 per 100.

MISS BLANCHE 2:

Not a new variety, but one that through sheer merit has won a high place in the hearts of lovers of pure white Tulips. The large, well-formed flowers are carried on strong upright stems. Splendid bedder. Height, 20 inches. 95 cts. per dozen, $6.50 per 100.

MENDEL TULIPS

This new race of Tulips is the result of crossing Single Early Tulips—Duc Van Thols and Darwins, in order to obtain varieties possessing the good qualities of both classes. Mendels have the early forcing qualities of the Single Early Tulips and the stems are nearly as tall as those of the Darwins. Especially recommended for early forcing in the month of January.

Named varieties in the various colors range from $8 to $15 per 100.

TRIUMPH TULIPS

Triumph tulips are a new race, hybrids of Early Single and Darwin Tulips.

From the Early Single parents they inherit earliness and from the Darwins stateliness. Result:—Here we have something entirely novel and worthwhile. Tulips that bridge the gap between the early and late kinds. They bloom a week later than the early varieties, have strong, tall stems and some of the most beautiful colors are found in this class. All force readily.

SINGLE EARLY TULIPS

Just as the Daffodils pass out of the garden picture, these early Tulips enter, to help prolong Spring joys. This group holds, perhaps, some of the gayest-colored of all Tulips.

Most early Tulips grow readily in pots or pans indoors. All furnish excellent material for beds.

WHITE

Bright earmine-rose. Large flower on a tall, strong stem. Unsurpassed for forcing, of unusual substance and especially recommended. *PROSERPINE 1:

Though one of the oldest varieties, it retains its hold on the Tulip-loving public because of its utter dependability. A silky, earmine-rose, of large size, handsome globe shape and pleasing fragrance, it is a fine indoor as well as a splendid bedding variety. Height, 14 inches. 95 cts. per dozen, $6.50 per 100.

ORANGE

*DE WET 3:

Named after the famous Boer leader, this Tulip may be likened to him because as yet the rest of the tribe have not caught up with it, and it will probably not be superseded for some time to come. It is one of the outstanding varieties for bedding and forcing. A golden yellow, flushed and stippled deep orange softened by a golden sheen. The flowers are large and delicately scented. Height, 16 inches. $1.15 per dozen, $8 per 100.

One of the oldest Tulips in cultivation and still one of the most popular. As a bedding variety it stands alone, with its bright, crimson-searlet flowers, each of which is edged with a deep, rich yellow border. Of tremendous size for an early variety and withal, of long lasting qualities. Height, 16 inches. See illustration below. $1.20 per dozen, $8.50 per 100.

YELLOW

*RISING SUN 2:

Deep golden yellow. A real giant on a tall and strong stem; excels all yellow Tulips for bedding or forcing. Height, 16 inches. 90 cts. per dozen, $6 per 100.

"Keizerskroon" not only makes a glorious showing outdoors but is also one of the easiest to grow in pots indoors.

TULIPS

God of the sunset, flowers and field,
Nature in all loveliness now does yield,
The bursting Buds, the singing birds,
A symphonic poem beyond mere words.

Of all the blessings Thou hast given,
Among the flowers, the gift from heaven,
We now would pay this tribute dear
To Holland, for the tulips here.

This simple flower in loveliness,
Exceeds all language to express,
'Twas brought to us across the sea,
An emblem of tranquility.

To grace our land with beauty rare,
A loving token from over there.
Flower of the magic hue and grace,
You make of earth a heavenly place.

God of the sunset, flowers and field,
We thank Thee for the month of May,
When tulips bloom and glory yield,
To cheer our hearts and make them gay.

HYACINTHS

In beds or borders. Hyacinths should be planted 4 inches deep from the crown of the bulb to the surface of the soil or less, according to size, and about 6 inches apart or more, according to the number of bulbs available for a given space.

The soil should be made moderately firm. After planting, the beds must be mulched over with litter, as a protection against severe weather. All varieties listed are suitable for forcing and outside planting.

For outdoor beds or borders first-size bulbs produce flowers less top-heavy than those from Exhibition bulbs.

Culture in pots. The pots for all bulbs should be well drained, the soil made moderately firm, and a little sharp sand dusted under the base of each bulb; then add more soil until one third of the bulb appears above the surface.

After potting the bulbs, the pans may be plunged into a coldframe or in a sheltered spot in the garden. They should be covered with several inches of soil and, before severe frost sets in, they should be mulched heavily with leaves or straw. They may be lifted after January first, providing the bud is already out of the bulb. Bulbs not sufficiently advanced should be left until developed.

Keep the pans in a dark cool spot until the buds extend sufficiently above the bulb. After the flowers are plainly visible they should be kept in a slightly cooler temperature to promote sturdy growth of the plants. The flowers should not be exposed to strong sunlight at any time, as they are apt to fade. For indoor culture plant exhibition size bulbs of named varieties only.

For best effect plant Hyacinths in long, narrow beds. Space bulbs eight inches apart each way. Do not mix the colors.

EXHIBITION HYACINTHS

Selected bulbs of the highest quality, bound to produce the best results for Exhibition. Also recommended where extra large spikes are wanted in the garden.

CROCUSES

SPRING FLOWERING

The Crocus has its home on the shores of the Mediterranean Sea and eastward into Asia. The name crocus is of Greek origin and means saffron. Saffron in turn is the English spelling of the Arabic word "Zafaran." In early times the orange-yellow stigmas were dried and used in medicine and are still used to-day for cooking by the Persians and Spaniards who mix them with their rice. In Greece and Rome, saffron was used as a perfume and as a yellow dye and is still employed extensively for that purpose in certain sections of the old world. Commercial plantings of crocus for the manufacture of saffron are still to be found in Persia, Spain, France and Sicily.

The Crocus is one of the loveliest of all spring-flowering plants. Soon after the snowdrops have put in their appearance come the crocuses with their large showy blooms in yellow, white, purple and stripes of lilac on a white ground. They must be grown in a more or less sunny place, otherwise the blooms do not open up fully.

They are easily forced in a temperature of about 50 degrees, especially the top-sized quality bulbs which we offer.

Please bear in mind that many so-called "first quality" Crocus bulbs do not belong in the top-size. Extra quality is never in abundance.

We guarantee all Crocus bulbs offered to be strictly top size unless mentioned otherwise.

EREMURUS

A noble group of hardy plants which is just finding its way into the American gardens from the Himalayas. The enormous, stately flower stalks, often 6 to 10 feet tall, rise majestically from a tuft of long narrow leaves and are crowned by flower spikes 2 to 3 feet long. These spikes are composed of hundreds of closely set star-like flowers of beautiful shades of rose, yellow, bronze and white.

Eremurus should be planted in the early Fall, four inches deep. They enjoy a well-drained rich soil and a sunny location, and may be left undisturbed for years.

Although perfectly hardy they should have a heavy mulch of salt hay or leaves the first year after planting. When fully established a mulch of old cow manure is sufficient.

When flowering time is over, the plant disappears entirely, but reappears very early in the Spring, when it is advisable to place a paper bag or flower pot over the young crown to protect it from late frost.

The finest of all Iris for early summer cut flowers, blooming on Long Island from June 15th on; they last a long time, several blossoms coming out in succession. The flower resembles that of the Dutch Iris but is twice the size. As they resent being transplanted they do not produce flowers the first season but after a few years they produce numerous stems 3 feet in height with an abundance of flowers and become more prolific from year to year. The plants are extremely hardy and will succeed in almost any position, though they are benefited by a protection of old cow manure in winter.

Iris Ochroleuca

DUTCH IRIS

Their exquisite shades, ease of culture, and great dependability cause these to become increasingly popular from year to year. They are thoroughly at home in sandy soil, although they will do well in any soil that is not too heavy.

In color they range from the purest white to golden yellow and bronze, from heliotrope to light blue and to the darkest blues. Because of dainty form and having strong, wiry stems, they lend themselves particularly for artistic and decorative arrangements. In the garden they should be massed, grouping the different colors by themselves.

They readily force in moderate temperature. Outdoors they should not be planted in the same place in succession, new ground each year producing by far the best flowers.

DAVID BLESS:

One of the earliest varieties, and readily forced as early as March. Most unusual flower, bound to attract attention. Standards of a pale pearly blue, with blue or heliotrope falls. $1.15 per dozen, $8 per 100.

HARDY LILIES

Many of the late flowering Lily bulbs are not ready before the end of November. Where the ground is liable to freeze, we advise the preparation of the Lily beds or borders early in autumn, covering with 4 to 6 inches of leaves or other litter to prevent the ground freezing until the bulbs arrive.

See that they have a well-drained position, and without exception they prefer a half shady, moist position, protected against the hot sun.

The ground must be thoroughly spaded to a depth of 18 inches before planting Lilies and must be enriched by adding equal portions of leafmold, peat and rotten manure.

Plant the bulbs 6 to 8 inches deep, varieties like Speciosum require at least 8 inches, putting some sand under and around the bulbs to insure proper drainage.

Cover the beds with 6 to 8 inches of leaves or other litter which must be removed in late Spring.

LILIUM AURATUM:

The Gold-banded Lily of Japan. Flowers white, with a wide band of gold running through the center of each petal, and thickly studded with crimson spots. September flowering. Bulbs 11 to 13 inches in circumference. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per dozen, $50 per 100.

They should be planted in early fall, about 4 to 5 inches deep, and may be left undisturbed for years. 100 Bulbs for $5.00.

The most beautiful of dwarf blue spring flowers, resembling those of Scilla Siberica, but larger, slightly taller and more handsome. They are very hardy, thriving in any ordinary garden soil, and in almost any situation.

It bears long racemes of heart-shaped pink flowers and blooms as persistently as any hardy perennial flower we know. In addition it has extremely graceful foliage. Whether you intend to plant it indoors or use it in your hardy border, here is one plant that we can conscientiously recommend. Not very particular as to soil. IS YOUR BULB GARDEN THE MOLES' HAPPY HUNTING GROUND?

Every year scores of our customers write to us wondering what they can do to rid their grounds of moles. It is a case of getting rid of them or being deprived of one of the greatest pleasures on earth—that of having a fine Tulip garden.

The same problem has bothered us in our Nurseries in Holland, and was not solved satisfactorily until a preparation was compounded that did the work. We call it "Mole-kill" for short. It is a powder which is very effective, so effective in fact that if it does not do its work your money will be refunded.

"Mole-kill" is not dangerous to animals (dogs or cats) which may happen to eat a poisoned mole. Keep the product in a safe spot and out of the reach of children. The handling and manipulation are free from danger. "Mole-kill" has caused thousands of congratulatory letters to be received by its inventor, both from experiment stations and from private gardeners. One bottle is sufficient for destroying at least a hundred moles and is fit for use for six months after opening the bottle. Price, postpaid, $3.
